Purpose of TIN Request Form

We are required to file an information return with the IRS and must obtain your correct TIN to report income paid to you. Furnishing your correct taxpayer information and making the appropriate certifications will prevent certain payments from being subject to backup withholding.*

We use this form as a substitute for the IRS Form W-9 (Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification). Please refer to Form W-9 and its instructions if you require additional information.

*What is Backup Withholding?

Businesses making certain payments to you are required to withhold and pay to the IRS 28% of such payments under certain conditions. This is called "backup withholding." If you provide the correct TIN and name combination and make the appropriate certifications, your payments will not be subject to backup withholding. Payments you receive will be subject to backup withholding if: (1) You do not furnish your TIN to the requester, (2) The IRS notifies the requester that you furnished an incorrect TIN or name, or (3) You do not certify your TIN.

See IRS Form W-9 regarding exemptions from backup withholding.

Specific Instructions for Individuals and Sole Proprietors

Individual payees must generally provide their SSN as their TIN and the name shown on their social security card on line 6. If you have changed your last name, for instance, due to marriage, without informing the Social Security Administration of the name change, please enter the name shown on your social security card on line 5 and your new name on line 6.

Sole proprietors must furnish their individual name and SSN, which is preferred by the IRS, or employer identification number (EIN) as their TIN. Enter your name(s) as shown on your social security card and/or as it was used to apply for your EIN on Form SS-4. You may also enter your business name or "doing business as" name on line 7.

Penalties

Failure to Furnish TIN. If you fail to furnish your correct TIN, you are subject to a penalty of $250 for each such failure unless your failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

Civil Penalty for False Information with Respect to Withholding. If you make a false statement with no reasonable basis that results in no backup withholding, you are subject to a $500 criminal penalty.

Criminal Penalty for Falsifying Information. Willfully falsifying certifications or affirmations may subject you to criminal penalties including fines and/or imprisonment.

Misuse of TINs. If the requester discloses or uses TINs in violation of Federal law, the requester may be subject to civil and criminal penalties.

Privacy Act Notice

Section 6109 of the Internal Revenue Code requires you to furnish your correct TIN to businesses that must file information returns with the IRS to report income paid to you. The IRS uses the numbers for identification purposes and to help verify the accuracy of your tax return. The IRS may also provide this information to governmental agencies to carry out tax laws. The IRS may also disclose this information to combat terrorism.

You must provide your TIN whether or not you are required to file a tax return. Payers must generally withhold 28% of taxable payments to a payee who does not furnish a TIN to a payer. Certain penalties may also apply.
